PLATFORM: A dear nursing mentor gave me a cross-stitched book marker of a “Red Door” when I graduated nursing school many years ago. She told me that my RN degree will open many doors for me and it was up to my initiative to step through those doors when they opened. TNA’s mission is “Empowering Nurses to Advance the Profession”. I believe the door of being an active voice for all nurses is open for me. I believe that all nurses need a strong voice in nursing legislation to advance nursing profession and become leaders in improving the quality of healthcare for all. Some major issues that are foremost in the nursing profession are involvement in professional organizations, effective communication, and practicing to our full extent of our education. I believe that nurses should become full partners with all health care professions in policy making and improve the quality of health care for all. I believe if elected Pres-Elect of Texas Nursing Association I can help bridge the gap between nursing education, healthcare professions, and legislation. I truly look forward to the adventure. I am stepping through that door to have my voice be heard for all nurses.
