PLATFORM: Nurse faculty shortages exist due to differences in pay for nurse faculty and in the clinical setting. Nursing must continue efforts to maintain the Professional Nursing Shortage Reduction Program to address the approaching retirement of nurse baby boomers. Nurses experience increased risk of workplace violence in the healthcare environment. More efforts are needed to identify strategies that decrease risk and improve reporting.

Evidence-based safe staffing models support improved patient outcomes in relation to adequate nurse staffing. Nursing must continue to advocate for nurse staffing committees that develop staffing plans and report up to Board of Directors or Senior Leaders.
