FEMA wants to share how you can help your community understand the importance of the Harvey Group Flood Insurance Policies expiration on October 24, 2020

The FEMA Texas Recovery Office is hosting classes to share valuable information about the importance of the upcoming Hurricane Harvey Group Flood Insurance Policy (GFIP) expiration date (October 24, 2020) and the obligation for recipients to obtain and maintain a standard flood insurance policy by November 24, 2020. These policies were issued to select FEMA Individual Assistance recipients as a part of Harvey operations. GFIP recipients who do not purchase a standard flood insurance policy will not be eligible to receive FEMA Individual Assistance for home or personal property flood damages in the next federally declared flood disaster.

These classes are a part of a campaign to inform and equip local officials, emergency managers, floodplain administrators, real estate professionals, insurance agents, and philanthropic organizations with the knowledge and resources to assist their stakeholders through the expiration of Harvey GFIPs.

To register, please click on the class date you would like to attend. All classes are 9:00 to 10:30 CDT. After registering, you will receive an Outlook invitation including the Zoom link for the class you selected. We hope you can join us for one of these essential information sessions.
