Patient Experience Journal Releases Fall 2020 Issue

Published in association with The Beryl Institute, Volume 7, Issue 3 includes 29 articles focused on patient experience improvement research from global perspectives across healthcare settings.

Nashville, TN (November 12, 2020) – The Beryl Institute announces the publication of Volume 7, Issue 3 of Patient Experience Journal (PXJ), an international, open access, peer-reviewed journal focused on research and proven practices around understanding and improving patient experience. Read in over 200 countries and territories, PXJ has over 700,000 article downloads and is committed to disseminating rigorous knowledge and expanding the global conversation on evidence and innovation on patient experience.

Published in association with The Beryl Institute, Volume 7, Issue 3 includes 29 articles from 113 contributing authors representing commentaries, personal narratives, research studies and case studies and covers a selection of topics such as:

- Moving forward to the future of healthcare
- Patient-centric culture and implications for patient engagement during the COVID-19 pandemic
- Solitude and fear during the great coronavirus war
- A student’s lesson in healthcare disparities
- A home for us and a womb for her: Living the Family Integrated Care model in a Danish NICU
- Cancer patient perspectives during the COVID-19 pandemic: A thematic analysis of cancer blog posts
- The impact of parental presence in the NICU on hospital alienation and other distress measures
- Patient reported experience of inpatient rehabilitation in Australia
- Collecting child-patient feedback: A systematic review on the patient-reported outcome measures for hospitalized children

Submissions represent a broad range of global organizations and institutions including University of Toronto, European Institute of Oncology, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill School of Medicine, Copenhagen School of Design and Technology, McGill University, East Carolina University Brody School of Medicine, Australian Health Services Research Institute, University of Wollongong, Auburn University, Laval University, Quebec City, University of Melbourne, Africa Centre for Public Health and Toxicological Research, The University of Hong Kong, University of Alabama at Birmingham, Louisiana State University, Brown University, Dell Medical School – The University of Texas at Austin, University of Florida, Massachusetts General Hospital, Birmingham NHS Foundation Trust, and more.

“Volume 7, Issue 3 has the distinction of publishing at a critical time, one that could be deemed a moment in which scholarship suffers. Yet what we have found is our greatest level of contribution and what will be our largest issue to date with almost 260 pages engaging in patient experience and the human experience in healthcare.,” said Jason Wolf, Founding Editor of PXJ and President & CEO of The Beryl Institute. “Over the seven years of publishing PXJ, never could we have dreamt of this moment, but in many ways, we were always preparing for it. For in bringing together the diverse voices of our world, in weaving together ideas, stories, and evidence we knew and now espouse, we are ready to support one another. What this issue represents is that we are truly stronger together.”
To access Volume 7, Issue 3 of PXJ, visit: http://pxjournal.org/journal/

PXJ publishes twice annually in April and November. Submissions are accepted on an ongoing basis and should follow the requested submission types and adhere to author guidelines. Papers should address the full range of topics critical to the evaluation and impact of patient experience practices, efforts and influences.

PXJ is also accepting submissions for the 2021 Special Issue to address the impact of inequity and health disparities on the human experience. The deadline for submissions for that issue is April 1, 2021. Learn more: https://pxjournal.org/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1515&context=journal

###

About Patient Experience Journal:

Patient Experience Journal (PXJ) is a peer-reviewed, open-access journal published in association with The Beryl Institute. Read in over 200 countries and territories, PXJ is committed to disseminating rigorous knowledge and expanding the global conversation on evidence and innovation on patient experience.

About The Beryl Institute:

The Beryl Institute is a global community that builds the capacity of organizations to elevate the human experience in healthcare and develops individuals who impact experience excellence. We believe human experience is grounded in experiences of patients & families, those who work in healthcare and the communities they serve.

We define the patient experience as the sum of all interactions, shaped by an organization’s culture, that influence patient perceptions across the continuum of care.