When you go to my school, you can be car rider, walker, or a bus rider. I am a walker, and in order to be safe, we have a crosswalk and we have crossing guards. Our crossing guards are so important to keeping me and my friends safe. The crossing guards spend thirty minutes of their time twice a day to keep us safe and make sure we don’t get hit by cars. Their job can be dangerous because some people driving cars don’t pay attention, get distracted or are impatient. I really like how crossing guards help me, my friends, and the community safely cross the busy streets. I would like to say a huge thank you to all the crossing guards in the world. Thank you so much for making me feel safe everyday walking to and from school.
