

Jeanne Zucker

Jeanne Zucker is vice president of client development for athenahealth and president emeritus for Healthcare Businesswomen's Association.

Prior to athenahealth, Jeanne held the position of senior vice president, client relations for InfoMedics, Inc., based in Reading, MA, a healthcare services organization focused on patient feedback and support, adherence programs for the pharmaceutical industry. As a founding management team member of InfoMedics, she served as senior vice president, strategic business development; vice president, strategic account development; and vice president, product development over her 15 year tenure with the company.

Before moving into the pharmaceutical industry, Jeanne was with Private Healthcare Systems, Inc. within the managed care industry, where she served in a series of progressive leadership roles starting as associate regional manager and culminating in her role as vice president, network services.

She holds an undergraduate degree in Psychobiology and Neurobiology from Wellesley College.

Jeanne has held numerous board positions at the Healthcare Businesswomen's Association (HBA) since 2006.

She is secretary of the UCA board and also serves on the strategic planning committee.