Dear Aaron:

Thank you for taking time out of your schedule to attend and participate in the recent Rural Economy Roundtable regarding the impact of tariffs. The meeting provided me with an opportunity to hear first-hand the impact that tariffs have on our area's manufacturing and agriculture industries.

The economy in our area is diverse and interconnected – with raw materials and finished products imported and exported from throughout the world. As we heard, manufacturers routinely import raw materials for use in the assembly and manufacture of high-valued finished products that are then exported to consumers around the globe. Our family farmers grow products that are used and consumed worldwide.

Trade is important in today's economy and is important to the people of the Third Congressional District. As a member of Congress, I will continue to work to ensure that our nation implements policies that level the global playing field, ensuring that trade rules work for and not against domestic manufacturers, farmers and consumers.

Thank you, again, for your participation. Please feel free to contact me if you have any further questions or if I can be of any assistance.

Sincerely,

Ron Kind
Member of Congress
