- Title: Managing for Morale and Finding Joy in Work - A Discussion and Review of Techniques to Manage Health Care Teams Burnout and Resilience

- Time: 5:30 – 8:00pm
 - 5:30-6:30 PM - Networking

 - 6:30-8:00 PM - Panel presentations and discussion

- Location: Crowne Plaza Hampton – Marina, 700 Settlers Landing Road, Hampton, VA 23669
- Details: Staff retention continues to be a top priority for healthcare executives. Health care organizations rely on the support of an engaged and loyal clinical workforce to support their mission. However, with increased turnover, patient and payer expectations and pressures to reduce cost of care, health care teams are at risk of burnout . Managing morale and helping clinicians find joy in their work is critical to retaining motivated staff. This program will take a closer look at how local health systems are working with health care teams to find joy in work to position their providers and organizations for continued success of providing high quality patient care.
- Speakers:
 - Curtis Sessler, MD, Director of Adult Critical Care, Virginia Commonwealth University Health System
 - Nancy Littlefield, Chief Nursing Officer, Riverside Health System
 - Debbie Gentry, Director, Team Member Development, Sentara Healthcare
- Event Moderator:
 - Stephanie S. Jackson, Director, Patient Care Services, Sentara Leigh Hospital
