WEPAN Women of Color Summit: Leveraging, Learning, and Leading

Speaker Bio

Aesha Bhansali
Associate Lecturer, University of New South Wales

Aesha Bhansali is an Associate Lecturer at the University of New South Wales. She is a Doctoral Candidate at The University of Sydney. Her Ph.D is on ‘Measuring, exploring and enhancing undergraduate students’ emotional engagement with physics, which falls under the area of Physics Education Research. She has been involved with teaching, and designing learning materials for undergraduate physics. She is also a reviewer at the International Journal of Innovation in Science and Mathematics Education.