Dr. Teresa Nelson
Professor, Simmons University in Boston; Founder, The Impact Seat

Dr. Teresa Nelson, PhD, is a professor of strategic management and entrepreneurship at Simmons University in Boston, and she is a founder of The Impact Seat, (impactseat.com/consulting) a science-based consultancy committed to working with for-profit, non-profit and government organizations to realize their diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) commitments.

Nelson has published extensively in top academic journals on the team dynamics of high growth, STEM firms and on achieving DEI for social and business benefit. Recent work includes leadership of a Sloan Foundation study on the commercialization of science in STEM by female faculty at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and an appointment as a Visiting Scholar for the STEM equity brain trust of the US National Science Foundation ADVANCE ARC Network.

At The Impact Seat, Nelson analyzes organizational dynamics and provides DEI audits, strategy-making sessions, and learning sessions (video and live) to realize stakeholder benefit, employee engagement, and social justice outcomes. Recent clients include Dewpoint Therapeutics, The Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, and the Environmental Defense Fund.
