

Brett Housholder is the Deputy Director at the San Diego Contracting Opportunities Center for Southwestern College, where he helps oversee a program that helps San Diego area businesses learn the processes of selling their goods and services to government agencies at the federal, state, and local level. Before joining the team in San Diego in the fall of 2017, Brett spent five years as the Program Manager for a similar program with the Wyoming Small Business Development Center.

In both of these positions, Brett has learned about government regulations and certifications available to minority-owned, woman-owned, and veteran-owned businesses that give those companies an advantage in competing on government contracts and has helped businesses go through the certification processes, find contracting opportunities, submit bids, and win contracts.

Brett graduated from the University of Wyoming with a Marketing degree in 2003 and an MBA in 2004.
