WIB’s Entrepreneur Center Webinar Series

- Successful Partnering, April 21, 2020

Booking a full schedule of meetings at any conference requires understanding the platform and how to execute a strategic plan, utilizing all the tools and resources available to you. You already know how to identify investors you match with and have your story straight. Now you must book as many meetings as possible. As the second webinar in a three-part series, Bryanna Allison, Business Development Manager of the RESI Conference Series will discuss how to introduce your company to an investor and how to request a meeting. You are also going to learn the follow-up processes that make the argument of why you are investable and why an investor should meet with you.

National Volunteer Week - April 19 through April 25

Women In Bio appreciates our volunteers. As an organization that is almost entirely volunteer-powered, it is your hard work and dedication that helps move WIB's mission forward. Please keep your eye on our social media accounts as we honor our volunteers throughout the week.
We'd like you to take this time to reflect on why you volunteer. Please print out the attached sign located here, write in your reason, and post a picture with it on social media. Be sure to tag #NVM and #WomenInBio. We look forward to your posts!

Interested in Volunteering Your Time to Support Women In Bio? New Volunteer Inquiry Form Available

Want to volunteer your time with an organization that supports diversity and inclusion for women in the life sciences and beyond? We’ve made it even easier for you to get connected! You can fill out our new Volunteer Inquiry form located here.

Our organization depends on volunteers to lift women up. How can you help move this mission forward?

Would You Like to Be a National Leader for Women In Bio?

WIB National seeks volunteers for the following positions listed below. WIB supports diversity and inclusion for women employed in the field of life sciences from the classroom to the boardroom. We are with our members every step of the way with our Young Women In Bio, Executive Women In Bio, and Boardroom Ready Programs, as well as our growing Mentorship.

To apply, please submit your resume/CV and a one-page document containing a description of your history with WIB, and why you are interested in the role. Submissions should be e-mailed to info@womeninbio.org no later than April 30, 2020.

- National Webinar Chair: The ideal candidate for this position is a person who has recruited and coordinated speakers/meetings and is comfortable with public speaking. The National position is a sub-committee of the National Programming team and will work alongside the National Programming Chair to maximize our virtual outreach.

- National YWIB Sponsorship Chair: Will work alongside the YWIB National Chair and will be responsible for helping the chapters with their strategic plans and fundraising to meet the chapter’s goals. The candidate should be comfortable asking for Non-profit funding from companies and/or organizations who value the WIB mission. The candidate will be expected to participate on the YWIB National monthly call and will need to be available to attend a few other internal committee meetings during the month.

- National WIB Entrepreneur Center (TEC) Co-Vice-Chair: Will work alongside the TEC National Chair and will be responsible for planning meetings and events to help educate and engage the entrepreneurs and founders within our chapter membership. The candidate will be expected to participate on the MAPS National monthly call and will need to be available to attend a few other internal committee meeting during the month. An entrepreneurial spirit is an important element for the candidate.
WIB Member Spotlight - Chris Meda

Chris Meda has been a WIB member since December of 2011. In April of 2015, she stepped up into the role of National Sponsorship Vice-Chair and then moved up to National Sponsorship Chair in early 2016. She lists the following as the top three things her affiliation with WIB has brought her:

1. “The opportunity to give back and mentor women in the different stages of their careers where and when I can i.e. MAPS Program and Young Women In Bio (YWIB).”
2. “Incredible opportunity to network with amazing women who are focused, of like mind on many levels, and offer great forums to discuss new ideas and opportunities for women at all stages of their careers.”
3. “The opportunity to create new ideas and vehicles for women to further their careers i.e. Sponsorship, Boardroom Ready.”

Chris hopes to continue as an advisor to our Boardroom Ready program and plans to apply for a WIB Board seat. Thank you Chris for everything you do to help educate, engage, and empower women in the life sciences and beyond!

Young Women In Bio (YWIB) News

Young Women In Bio (YWIB) is pleased to announce the launch of its new YWIB Online platform, which includes a dedicated YouTube channel and associated Facebook page. Together, these online resources provide access to young girls across the United States and in Canada to our educational and leadership programs and other opportunities in science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) free of charge.

Check out the full press release here.
Important Update! Given the growing number of social distancing mandates and restrictions on large events and other gatherings across the United States and Canada due to concerns regarding the spread of coronavirus, YWIB may decide to postpone or cancel many of its upcoming YWIB events and programs in the interest of public health and safety. Please check in regularly to the webpage for the latest update on our events and programs, or email us at YWIB@womeninbio.org.

About WIB-Atlanta

Atlanta is the regional hub for the hospital technology and medical device industries and is the home of a burgeoning biotech industry that some have likened to a potential "Silicon Valley" of Biotechnology. The city has a strong reputation in global health, housing the CDC, Carter Center, and the Taskforce for Global Health.

The Atlanta chapter of WIB was founded in 2012, to cater to the women in the burgeoning life sciences sector here. WIB-Atlanta provides women a space to interact and exchange information and ideas, through a wide range of social gatherings and educational workshops. Our membership base includes researchers, sales, law professionals, business, technology transfer specialists, supportive staff, policy experts, doctors, medical/science communicators, educators and other experts.
