Young Women In Bio is excited to announce the launch of YWIB Showcase, a set of video shorts between four to eight minutes in length covering a wide range of topics relating to STEM that may be of interest to young girls. YWIB is also creating YWIB Showcase videos in series around a central topic or theme so that girls can explore different aspects around that topic or theme in the video short format. We are excited to announce our first such YWIB Showcase Series centered around Careers in STEM is currently available on our YWIB Online YouTube channel, here.
