Dear Friend:

We are now only 90 days away from the 3rd World Parkinson Congress and program, speakers, and social events are lining up for a great event. Most importantly, AbbVie Pharmaceuticals has joined the team as the lead sponsor for the WPC at the Diamond level. Their support of the WPC is paramount to the success of the Congress. Please thank any AbbVie team members you know or meet for their support of the WPC 2013.

Submission for Late Breaking Abstracts just opened! Submission is until July 15 at 11:59PM ET US. Don't miss this deadline.

For those who need a break during the WPC from the science and management of Parkinson's, you may find the Renewal Room just the right place or perhaps the documentary film room where you can view films made by or for members of the Parkinson's community. If singing is your thing, look at the green box on the left rail of this page for who you can contact regarding a singing opportunity at the WPC. Endless opportunities!

The 2nd edition Provisional Program is now available for your viewing with updated information and changes to the schedule.

Don't miss the chance to take advantage of the discounted prices of early-bird registration, which closes today, July 2!

Register today before prices go up.

As the Congress activities grow, we are still looking for volunteers to help the meeting run smoothly. If you are interested in volunteering in exchange for free registration, learn more here.

Be sure to join us for this exciting and inspirational meeting and tell others in the community about the WPC. You can start by forwarding this eNews!

If the WPC 2013 will be your first experience at a Parkinson's conference of this magnitude, we look forward to welcoming you and sharing with you the outstanding experience and memories that the unique triennial WPCs can offer.

See you in Montréal!

Top 12 Videos - Video Competition

We were so thrilled with the videos we received from the Video Competition that we decided to create a NEW award we are calling the WPC People's Choice Award. This new award will allow the community to choose their favorite video to be played alongside the Grand Prize winning video at the opening ceremony in Montreal!

Voting will run from July 8 - 12 so watch for our email message on the 8th letting you know when the voting opens. Feel free to start viewing the Top 12 videos now so you'll be ready to cast your vote when voting opens.

Faculty Highlight: Michael Okun

Dr. Michael Okun is the Adelaide Lackner Professor of Neurology at the University of Florida, and the Administrative Director and co-founder of the UF Center for Movement Disorders and Neurorestoration. Dr. Okun's research has explored motor and non-motor basal ganglia brain disorders and deep brain stimulation. His newest book "Parkinson's Treatment: 10 Secrets to a Happier Life" has been translated into over 20 languages.

Dr. Okun is looking forward to his workshop and roundtable discussion on Deep Brain Stimulation on Day 3 of the WPC 2013. If you have questions about DBS, be sure to add his talks to your schedule! If you download the mobile app, you can start building your schedule today!

Late-Breaking Abstracts

We are now accepting late-breaking abstracts for the WPC 2013. Deadline for submission is Monday, July 15, 2013 at 11:59 PM ET (US). We will accept abstracts from both health professionals and people living with Parkinson's who have received data after the initial April submission deadline.
