

Blanda Nace is the City of York's Chief Opportunity Development Officer, working to attract and retain businesses to the City and provide Economic Development services to its citizens and prospective citizens. He also serves as the Executive Director of the Redevelopment Authority of the City of York with a goal to return vacant and blighted properties to productive use. He previously served as Vice President, Strategic Development at the York County Economic Alliance for 15 years, and served as project manager for the development of Sovereign Bank Stadium, Marketview Arts, the redevelopment of the Harley-Davidson West Campus and the Yorktowne Hotel.